West to Mount New Drive for Inspection Plan

Seeks to Lift Soviet Secrecy as Step to Arms Control System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western powers expect to mount a new campaign this spring to break down Soviet secrecy barriers as an essential step toward an arms control agreement.

The importance of an international inspection system which would operate throughout the Soviet Union and keep check on its armed forces was heavily emphasized anew Thursday in a statement here on the projected Soviet military manpower cut.

To Resume Negotiations

The Soviet Union and the Western powers will resume disarmament negotiations at Geneva on March 15, meeting as members of a 10-nation committee equally divided between Communists and the Western Allies.

Within two weeks the United States is expected to begin consultations with Britain, France and other Western members of the group on what Allied policy should be. The chief element is sure to be a requirement for a vast system of international inspectors operating behind the Iron Curtain as well as within the borders of free nations.

This essential condition laid down by the Western nations in the past has been the chief obstacle to reaching a disarmament agreement with the Soviet Union. But the Western governments have insisted that an agreement which was not safeguarded by a thoroughgoing control operation would be worse than useless, since it would create a serious danger of cheating.

Khrushchev Announcement

This whole critical issue was brought into the spotlight afresh Thursday by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's announcement that he intends to cut Soviet armed forces by 1,200,000 men without waiting for a disarmament pact.

The State Department, Pentagon and White House found comfort in the news. One official said about the most it seemed to mean was that the Soviets at least were not adding manpower. Although Khrushchev presented it as a measure of single handed disarmament, not conditioned on agreement with the West, he made quite clear in other portions of his long speech to the Supreme Soviet that its real significance is something different.

Security Safeguarded

Its real significance, his words disclosed, is that the Soviet government is convinced its security is now adequately safeguarded by its huge arsenal of nuclear and rocket weapons. It no longer needs so many men under arms to serve its military objectives. Indeed experts here are certain that the Soviet Union needs the men more urgently in industry and agriculture to produce food, civilian machines and consumer goods, and more modern munitions.

Red Spokesmen Call on Other World Powers to Trim Armies

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet spokesmen called on other world powers today to follow the example of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's move to trim military manpower. Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko singled out the Western Big Three.

Gromyko and others addressed the 1,300 deputies of the Soviet Parliament as it moved methodically toward unanimous adoption of Khrushchev's proposal to lop 1,200,000 men from the Soviet armed forces in the next year or two and rely on rocket-age weapons to take up the slack.

Gromyko said he hoped the action of Parliament in voting the reduction will influence lawmakers of the United States, Britain and France to do likewise. He suggested "some practical action" in reply.

Justas Paleckis, head of the Lithuanian Parliament's Presidium, declared the Soviet move should induce Parliament members of all nations to press for similar decisions by their governments.

There was speculation in diplomatic galleries and among the Soviets themselves about the "fantastic new weapon" Khrushchev spoke about Thursday.

There were no further details. People here also were asking one another when the Soviet Union's big new space rocket will be fired into the Central Pacific target area.

Today marks the first day of a month-long period during which the Soviet Union says the tests will be held.

Interest was heightened when Ivan Vasilevich Spiridonov, first secretary of the Leningrad Oblast Committee of the Communist party and one of the party's rising stars, call for adoption of the proposal to slash the Soviet's armed forces by 1,200,000 men. He said the cut "will not weaken

TV Deception Cited by FTC

Four Big Companies
Accused by Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Those drops of moisture you might have seen described as "flavor gems" in television margarine commercials are nothing more than a sprinkled-on liquid, says the Federal Trade Commission.

"Sandpaper" being shaved in a shaving cream commercial is a piece of glass or plastic to which sand has been applied, the commission says.

The tired-looking ham wrapped in a competing foil looked that way before it was ever wrapped, the FTC says.

And the toothpaste commercial using a cigarette-smoking machine doesn't prove what it claims, says the commission.

The FTC listed these four examples Thursday in accusing four big companies of deceiving the public with their television commercials. It said trickery was used in some cases to make contrived TV scenes look real.

In all four cases, the FTC said, the TV demonstration failed to prove claims made for the products.

Complaints were filed against the following firms for allegedly deceptive advertising of the products named:

Standard Brands, Inc., New York City, Blue Bonnet Margarine; Colgate-Palmolive Co., New York City, Palmolive Rapid Shave Shaving Cream; Aluminum Co. of America, Pittsburgh, and its subsidiary, Wear-Ever Aluminum Inc., Philadelphia, New Super Strength Alcoa wrap aluminum foil; and Lever Brothers Co., New York City, Pepsodent Toothpaste.

The FTC charged that the challenged commercials tend to deceive the public and cause TV viewers to buy one brand instead of another on the basis of the alleged misrepresentations. The firms were accused of using unfair methods of competition made illegal under the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Suicide Bomb Held Cause of Air Crash

Parts of Nation Are Belted by New Storms

Midwest Hit by Cold,
Snow; Freezing Rain
Lashing Northeast

By The Associated Press
Wintry weather, with snow, gusty winds and cold, swept into the Midwest today as a new ice storm moved into the Northeast.

The Midwest storm, fanned by strong northerly winds, dumped heavy snow in Iowa and Wisconsin and moved northeastward into northern Lower Michigan.

There was considerable blowing and drifting snow, resulting in hazardous driving conditions. Snow depths ranged up to a foot in parts of Iowa.

The gusty winds also powered cold air southward from Canada into the nation's midsection, with temperatures tumbling southward through Kansas and Oklahoma. It was near zero in some northern Midwest areas and in the northern Rockies.

Cold air also swept along the Rockies from Montana, but the heavy snow which hit Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas appeared Falls in Colorado ranged up to two feet at Rico, in the southwestern part of the state.

As the snow swept the Great Plains Thursday, tornadoes skipped across north central Texas and parts of Oklahoma. No casualties were reported.

The Weather Bureau posted warnings of freezing rain from southwestern New England to western Pennsylvania, with snow in northern sections of New England.

The icy air was expected to spread southward through Texas and parts of the Gulf Coast states.

California felt the effects of wintry weather. Blizzards lashed the mountains 45 miles from downtown Los Angeles. Thursday was the coldest day in Los Angeles in three years, with the temperatures range from 43 to 50 degrees. The readings were the lowest for Jan. 14 in 10 years. Rains and chilly winds added to the discomfort.

Mild weather continued in most of the Southeast.

Eight Men Evacuated From Crumbling Floe

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — An arctic drama which began with a small crack in an ice floe eight days ago neared its conclusion today.

A C130 transport plane evacuated eight men late Thursday night from Station Charley, a crumbling mass of ice floating in the Arctic Ocean 440 miles northwest of Barrow, Alaska, and the remaining four men were to be brought out early today.

In all, twelve men were evacuated Thursday.

The Air Force earlier had flown the others in the original complement of some 30 civilian scientists and military personnel off the floe.

LSU Graduate School Dean In Jail

Famous Scientist Held In Murder of Woman

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — University Graduate School, Thursday. They had questioned him several times since the body of Dr. McMillan, 39, was found on a cow path Sunday near the Mississippi River.

An assailant had brutally beaten her with a sharp instrument on the back of the head. She was a biology teacher at the LSU branch in New Orleans but was believed to have driven to Baton Rouge for a date.

Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Favrot said Thursday night a special session of the grand jury may be called to consider the charge against Mickey, married and the father of a 19-year-old boy, a sophomore at LSU, and a married daughter.

A murder charge in Louisiana allows no release on bond. Deputies picked up Mickey at the campus Thursday and took him to state police headquarters, where much of the questioning and the arrest took place.

They consulted nearly two hours with Favrot before issuing a statement about the arrest to a news conference.

The officers wouldn't discuss any details of their case against Mickey, described as likeable and friendly by LSU personnel. He is considered brilliant in the field of genetics and is known internationally.

Dog Owners Warned About Stray Animals

Mayor Dean Cramer and County Dog Warden Russell Reichenbach threatened to take drastic action against persons allowing their dogs to run at large.

Both officials cited recent complaints received in the city and just outside the city of dogs making a nuisance of themselves and destroying property.

The mayor called attention to two city ordinances referring to dogs. They are as follows:

"It is declared a nuisance for any person to keep or harbor a dog which howls or barks to the annoyance of the inhabitants of the city, and it is hereby declared unlawful for any person to create, continue, contribute or suffer such nuisance to exist.

"It shall be unlawful for the owner, keeper, harbinger, or person having charge or control of any dog licensed or unlicensed to permit it to run at large in any or upon any unenclosed land in the city."

The mayor and dog warden said they would take legal action against any person or persons in violation of either ordinance.

1 Of 34 Victims Had $900,000 In Insurance

Craft Fell Jan. 6
Near Bolivia, N.C.;
FBI Moves Into Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Blaming a suicide bomb for a Jan. 6 airliner crash which killed 34 persons, Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) said today new laws may be needed to protect against such acts.

He said the evidence is very strong that a passenger bent on suicide caused the disaster.

The FBI reportedly moved into the case Thursday as the story was unfolded before the Senate Aviation subcommittee headed by Monroney.

Had $900,000 In Insurance

The subcommittee heard testimony that insurance totaling nearly $900,000 had been issued since last April on the life of one of the crash victims.

He was named as Julian Andrew Frank, 32-year-old Westport, Conn., lawyer. He died with 33 others when a National Airlines plane plunged to earth near Bolivia, N.C., while en route from New York to Miami.

Oscar Bakke, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board's safety division, testified about the insurance. Bakke also described other evidence found by CAB investigators which Monroney said made clear the grim story of what had happened.

"I am convinced the explosion of a bomb of some sort was the cause of this disaster," Monroney announced.

Bomb Set Off In Washroom "It seems pretty pat that this bomb was carried into the washroom in the plane and set off deliberately.

"The evidence is very strong that it was a case of suicide by bombing."

Bakke made no such direct statement, saying the CAB is reserving an official verdict until further investigation is completed. But he said some of the evidence points to a possible bomb explosion and said if that was the case, "it will be discovered and the cause precisely established."

Mystery had shrouded exact cause of the disaster since the plane literally fell apart in the air and plunged to earth.

Bodies of most of the victims—the last was found Thursday—were located in the vicinity of Bolivia, N.C.

Body Found On Beach

Frank's body was found last Saturday 16 miles away, on the beach near Ft. Fisher, N.C., with some of the wreckage. Bakke said Frank could have been blown through the side of the plane by an explosion.

Bakke said Frank's body had been deeply pierced by metal and wood fragments, and had been mutilated in a manner far different from the injuries suffered by all of the other victims. Such piercing of the body with flying fragments frequently occurs in explosions.

A small blue fabric bag, its bottom violently torn out, was viewed by Bakke and Monroney as key evidence in their joint inquiry. Monroney said the bag may have contained the bomb.

Bakke said merely that the bag had been found, and that it looked like one Frank had carried aboard the aircraft.

Married To Model

Frank was married to the former Janet Wagner, a top photographer's model who formerly lived in Galesburg, Ill. They had two children, Andrew, 2, and Ellen, 4. They moved to Connecticut about five years ago from New York City, and moved in prominent social circles there.

He was the son of the late Aaron

Service Director Finishes Last Day

Harry Vincent Looks Back
On 16 Years' Public Service

In the 20 years since Harry Vincent first assumed public office, considerable changes have taken place.

Vincent left public service today after having put in 16 years with the city — eight as a councilman-at-large, two as Council president, four as mayor and the last two as service director. His first job was that of councilman-at-large, a post he took in 1940.

Such things as city street employees wages have made an enormous jump in those 20 years, according to Vincent. Not only in wages but in everything else as well.

A better example than the street situation is the park costs, Vincent said.

He recalls that when he joined Council, and in some of the ensuing years, only $400 to $500 was appropriated for parks in the city. At that time there was but one park, Centennial.

Since then, with the passage of the one-mill levy for parks, approximately $33,000 per year is available for park needs, he said.

IN THE STREET department. The present scale is $1.94 per hour. The present scale is $1.94 per hour. The police department in 1940 had only six men, including a chief compared to 13 today. In the fire department, there were nine men including a chief.

The tax base itself has jumped tremendously in the years since 1940 Vincent said, helped along by inflation and by the advent of some industries and innovations in others.

For example, Vincent cites the Bliss Rolling Mill as one of the biggest things to hit the city. He also emphasized the transformation of the Salem China into a modern production plant. He said both plants added men to the payroll and increased Salem production.

VINCENT DOESN'T RECALL how many miles of streets the city maintained in 1940 but it was considerably less than the 44 miles on the program today. Since 1940, he said, just a couple of the street additions include the 11th St. annex and the Franklin allottment in the southeast section.

Probably his biggest accomplishment, Vincent recalls was the establishment of the Police and Fire Pension Board. He said he was one of two civilian representatives who helped set up the system.

Vincent said his future is still a big question mark. He noted that he could draw social security now that he has reached 67. However, he said he would like to keep busy and possibly work if he can find it.

He and his wife, the former Lucy Moore, reside at 443 S. Union Ave.

Boys Who 'Borrowed'
Auto Get Detention

LISBON — Three Unity Township boys, aged 14, 15 and 16, who "borrowed" a car for a New Year's Eve joy ride, will spend the next seven days in detention at the county jail.

Punishment was ordered Thursday by Judge Louis Tobin in Juvenile Court.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said the boys admitted having a key made for a car owned by Chester Haenny, Columbiana - Springfield Rd., and taking the car from his garage while he was in California.

The boys' borrowed auto collided with another car early New Year's day on Rt. 46 near New Waterford and they returned the damaged car to Haenny's garage, undetected by a relative staying in my home about the accident.

The sheriff was called in early this week when Jack Dowd of Columbiana, owner of the other car in the collision, went to the Haenny home adsee aaid.

The relative insisted there must be some mistake, that the car had been in the garage all the time. Dowd had Haenny's license number and a description of the damage. Inspection bore out his report.

TRUMBULL JAIL 'DISGRACE'

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — The Trumbull County grand jury called the 70-year-old county jail a "disgrace to the county" and said it would be a waste of money to make repairs and improvements. Reporting Thursday to Common Pleas Judge William M. McLain, the jury said citizens "should be ashamed to put human beings into such a place." Three bond issues for a new jail and county office building have been defeated.

Junior High Assembly Held

L. F. Guntrup, a former member of the Department of Interior in Washington, D.C., entertained the Junior High School students on Wednesday at an assembly. The educational program was on the American Indian.

The speaker, who was born on a reservation and grew up there, speaks six different Indian languages. He displayed Indian lore, the teepee, peace pipe, drums, totem pole and many others.

Guntrup introduced two guests, Chief White Eagle, a Sioux Eagle from South Dakota, who sang Indian songs, and Princess Yellow Feather, a Seneca Indian from New York state, who presented tribal dances.

The speaker told of the problems the Indians have yet today and how the Court of Claims hopes to solve the reservation question for some of the tribes.

Tom Griffiths was announcer for the program. Clyde Miller and Joe Null assisted on the stage.

He suffered minor injuries and returned to duty, serving with the Navy through the war.

Doctor Takes Stand
In Gun-Running Case

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A Florida doctor has testified he arranged to rent a plane used in an alleged gun-running plot in the belief it was to be used for a "hunting and fishing trip."

Dr. Louis C. Pessalano of Miami, a former New Kensington, Pa., resident, testified Thursday at the trial of six men accused of trying to smuggle stolen guns to Cuban rebels in 1958.

Pessalano said Norman Rothman of Miami, one of the defendants, gave him $6,000 to rent the plane. Pessalano had close contacts with rental agencies.

When asked if the planes were for guns, Pessalano said Rothman replied amusingly, "yes, guns."

Besides Rothman, the defendants are Stuart Sutor of Hialeah, Fla.; Joseph Merola of Miami; Daniel Hanna of Arnold, Pa.; and Victor Carlucci and Joseph Giordano, both of New Kensington.

The case unfolded after Sutor was arrested at the municipal airport in Morgantown, W. Va., Nov. 4, 1958. Police said the plane was loaded with weapons stolen from the National Guard armory at Canton, Ohio, and flown to Morgantown from an airport near Tarentum, Pa.

ASIAN FLU IDENTIFIED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Health Department said Thursday two samples taken from Columbus residents ill with influenza have been identified as the A-2 strain—"essentially the same thing as Asian flu." Although a number of cases have been noted in the central Ohio area, including more than 300 cases at Ohio Penitentiary, London Prison Farm and the Women's Reformatory at Marysville last week, the Health Department said there is no indication yet of a state-wide flu epidemic.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Am I a wacko or what? My boy friend has a habit of cracking his knuckles and it drives me crazy. When I told him how much I disliked this annoying practice he triumphantly announced that he could also crack his nose, his jaws and his toes. Now, when we are alone he goes through the entire repertoire.

I've tried to retaliate but I don't seem to make an impression. What do you suggest? — READY TO SCREAM.

Dear Ready: Crack a joke and let it go at that. The more you complain the more he'll do it to tease you.

Ignore his needling (which is all this is) and he'll annoy you less and less.

Tune Ma Out

Dear Ann: I'm not a goofy teenager with an adolescent problem.

I'm a woman 26 who needs an unbiased opinion.

As long as I can remember Mother has picked apart every fellow I've dated. I'm not blaming her because she meant it for my good. But as I look back I've passed up some fine guys for reasons that didn't make sense.

Seven months ago I started to date a law student. He's brilliant, sensitive and treats me as if I were a Dresden doll.

Mother doesn't like him because he wears a white shirt more than once. She says a man's shirt is an index to his character.

I once half-kiddingly remarked that his shirt was "tattle-tale gray." He said, "I do my own laundry. It's cheaper that way."

He's tidy in his personal habits, is always clean shaven and his nails are immaculate. Mother insists that his dingy shirts speak volumes. Your opinion? — HELEN

Dear Helen: It's easier for a woman to put bleach in the wash water than to find a man who will treat her like a Dresden doll.

If this is the only thing Mama can find to criticize, tune her out.

Advice Stands

Dear Ann: Your advice that unmarried pregnant girls should "go it alone," and not force the skunk into a marriage he doesn't want, gives the American male a free ticket to live it up and skip merrily along his way. Believe me, in Europe there's no such pampering of scoundrels.

Why shouldn't the rat be made to pay a price for his folly? And what about the innocent child? Why should he be deprived of a father? You never stick up for women in your crummy column. You take the man's side every time. I've always thought you were a man and now I am sure. — SHARP COOKIE.

Dear Sharp: I've received hundreds of letters on this subject — both pro and con. Most of them were pro, however, from girls who have been through the experience. They support my position almost unanimously.

Even marriages based on mutual love and respect run into snags. What chance has a marriage when at least one of the parties feels as if he's being sent to jail?

Every child has a father, biologically speaking. But it takes more than this to give a child the feeling that he's loved and wanted. The father who has been dragged screaming to the altar and forced to say "I do" — doesn't, really — and never will.

Confidentially

TO WHIRLING HEAD: Of course he won't "get out of your life" — why should he? He's having a picnic. Why don't you get out of his?

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Our Neglected Post Office

If the Salem Post Office Building deteriorates any further, it might not be safe for patrons to enter the lobby.

Plaster keeps falling like leaves in autumn and only recently showered on a woman customer at the stamp window. Luckily, it was flaky and caused no injury.

When the Post Office building was built in 1915 it was one of the most modern in the district. It amply met the needs of the community, but that was 45 years ago.

Since then Salem has grown and rural mail routes outside the city have been expanded to serve the ever-increasing number of suburban residents. Since that time, too, not one major repair has been made to the building.

It's quite obvious, from the appearance and condition of the federal building, that a state of neglect exists. And, it's not the fault of local postal officials. They have appealed from time to time for projects to repair and renovate the building but all that ever materialized was a roof repair job a year ago.

Postal inspectors have agreed, upon visits, that the building is in bad shape but admit that improvement projects—if any—are probably "lost" in the files of regional Post Department or the General Services Administration.

Perhaps local businessmen and manufacturers should test Congressman Wayne Hays' influence in Washington and see if the proper attention can be focused on the Post Office situation here.

Either the Salem building should be repaired and enlarged or a new facility built.

Nixon, Mitchell and An Encore

When Democratic spear-throwers cocked their arms for an assassination attempt on Vice President Nixon after he had been credited with a major share in the steel settlement, they did not take into account the probability he would be a moving target.

The young vice president has been in politics too long to make any obvious mistakes, and the most obvious one he could have made after the steel settlement was to lie on his laurels while his opponents closed in.

It is interesting, therefore, to note these subsequent moves that have not been reported in headlines because attention has shifted from the problems of the steel industry to other matters.

1. President Eisenhower has repeated in his state-of-the-union message what he had said before—~~that~~ he intends to take seriously AFL-CIO president George Meany's proposal for a series of harmony meetings between management and labor.

2. The harmony meetings will be under the personal direction of Secretary of Labor Mitchell, who shared with Vice President Nixon the main credit for winding up the steel negotiations. Secretary Mitchell is working at them seriously.

3. Both Mr. Eisenhower and his secretary of commerce, Frederick H. Mueller, have said in recent days that whatever inflation may be implicit in the steel settlement could be removed if management and labor in the steel industry would work together to step up their production efficiency faster than the increase in production costs written into the new contracts.

4. On the night of Jan. 11, two guests for dinner arrived at the home of Vice President and Mrs. Nixon—the same place where some of the key parleys in the showdown on the steel deadlock were held, with Mrs. Nixon making coffee for the negotiators when their talks lasted past midnight. One of the guests was David J. McDonald, president of United Steelworkers. The other was Roger M. Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel Corp.

One of the most widely discussed possibilities in national politics is a break this year in the almost solid front of organized labor's support of the Democratic party. One of the most intriguing possibilities that might come out of this would be a campaign team of Richard M. Nixon and James P. Mitchell, sharing as candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, respectively, the common identity of Republicans who earned the confidence of unionism by producing harmony between management and labor in the steel industry.

Vice President Nixon is a proud man. He is skilled in politics. It takes no wild stretch of the imagination in 1960 to see that the most baffling thing he could do to his political opponents as a candidate for a presidential nomination would be to emerge from the great steel strike of 1959 with the confidence of both management and labor.

Swastikas Are Warnings Not Symptoms

No one can be sure of the next place a swastika may be painted. But everyone should be sure in advance of what it will mean if it appears.

It will not be a symptom of religious hatred spreading like wildfire through the people of the United States, if it appears in this country. It will not be a symptom of religious hatred even if it appears in East or West Germany, where the swastika is a ghastly reminder of Hitlerism.

That is what people are supposed to believe when they see these hooked crosses. It is assumed that most people will not think

No one who thinks could be taken in by anything so palpably rigged and contrived. The trouble is that there aren't enough thinkers.

Most human beings can be propelled and panicked as easily as sheep can be thrown into confusion. Human behavior is often compared to the behavior of sheep for the best reason conceivable.

There is a close similarity between the way sheep run senselessly in first one direction, then another, set into motion by noises and gestures, and the way people can be manipulated by cynics who have mastered the shabby art of influencing "public opinion."

Hitler and a few thousand fanatics propelled and panicked Germany into wild excesses that will smear the good name of the German nation for thousands of years.

And for all those years it may take no more than the smearing of a swastika on a wall to revive panic and hysteria among the thoughtless. It goes without saying that the world's most ruthless propagandists—the ones who practice their art in the Kremlin—will use the swastika and every other device of religious hatred to propel and panic the human sheep that are their most reliable tools.

It is ridiculously easy.

With as few as a dozen hastily painted swastikas in the right places, the Western world has been thrown into a nervous fit in which religious hatred again seems plausible.

That's exactly the idea. All who are capable of understanding how these things are done should be on the alert. Swastikas are warnings, not symptoms.

Once Over

Pity the poor commuter. He is a goat in worm's clothing. He gets it coming and going and never knows where one leaves off and the other begins. He has battered feet, bruised ribs, high blood pressure and is the only fellow to start each day with a guarantee of disappointments and frustrations.

He is late to work by railroad policy and late to dinner by legislative indifference. His life is one mob scene after another.

He suffers slow motion, transportation snafu and the life of a crated chicken on an interstate truck.

He considers it a good day if he reaches his destination with both sleeves in his coat and wearing the same hat he left home in. He is "Futility" in a two-piece suit.

The commuter lives in the country to escape the city and grows old trying to prove it a smart move. He lives with the birds and bees but is out on a limb oftener than a cuckoo.

He sees the wife only between railroad tie-ups and is at his desk only through a freak of fate.

The whistle of a locomotive was once music to his ears. But it has come to mean "Late as usual." He greets each new day with "I intend to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." He winds up each night with "It shouldn't happen to a dog."

Once he lived happily in wide open spaces. But he now gets built-in gloom through railroad destination, mismanagement and the policy indifference of state and federal government which dish out billions for superhighways, trucking interests and airplanes while answering railroads' plea "Mister, can you spare a dime?" with a free offer of a trip over Niagara Falls in an ice cake.

LAUGH OF THE YEAR is TV network decision to abandon Friday night fights, because of the "low state of boxing," while continuing wrestling programs based on fakery, rehearsed routines and a mockery of sportsmanship.

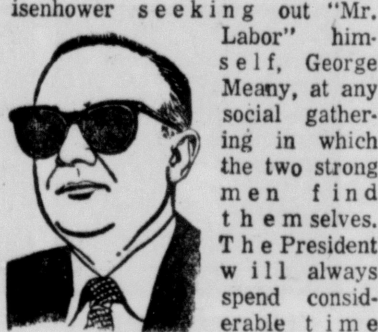

Arthur Godfrey is to fly to Africa to hunt tigers. He has the kind of courage that enables a man to fly into a jungle, send the plane home and order the pilot, "Don't call me; I'll call you."

"A Mighty Man" had a leading character who was never seen on the stage. The rest of the cast wasn't in view long, either.

Add similes: Colder than a Democratic senator in reacting to a presidential plea for old-fashioned bookkeeping.

Havana is making a big pitch for tourists at cut rates, with hotels, paying 50 per cent of the travel bill. (You can go there for a nervous breakdown and GET IT.)

As certain as gin and gossip is Washington's favorite mixed drink, you can always find Dwight D. Eisenhower seeking out "Mr. Labor."

Victor Riesel
Meany is one of his favorites.

There is no doubt that the 65-year-old Meany could have much for the asking — an ambassadorship, for example. There certainly could have been a cabinet post, high federal office or special mission around the globe.

But the husky, inwardly shy, outwardly brusque leader of the world's most powerful labor coalitions wants only one thing now — to stay on as president of the AFL-CIO. There are always inside tips on his resignation. Discount them. Recently, for example, he had two colds in a row.

He had his speeches read for him to a special session of the secretaries and treasurers of AFL-CIO unions and to a gathering of presidents of state labor councils. Immediately word flashed that he was

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

I finally have figured out where the catch is in measures to stop inflation. They are like measures to eliminate waste — something we prescribe for the other fellow and have no use for ourselves.

Every time one of those southern-fried red-hot blasts off about equal rights for colored people I am tempted to wonder how his words would sound if included in the funeral service, when he will be a candidate for equal rights in heaven, which by this time must be populated largely by multi-hued angels.

The difference between me and the people who have wished I would shut up and think about something else whenever the subject came up is that I was prepared for the resurgence of jut-jawed goosesteppers in Germany. Why should I think Germans have lost all capacity for the same thing that made them try to conquer the world twice in my lifetime?

There is a kind of tumbleweed that grows in the countryside and starts to roll about in the winter wind this time of year. It collects in the outside stairway to our basement and comes through the door whenever it's opened. I never saw it or heard of it before living in Rosy Fingert Dawn.

The intersectional football game that made the impact this year was not the Rose Bowl but the game between University of Texas and Syracuse — the one where Texas as boys and girls waved rebel flags and Texas football heroes insulted Negroes on the Syracuse team. That one will be replayed in the presidential campaign — again and again and again.

Swagger sticks disappeared from the hands of Marine Corps officers in a hurry when the new No. 1 officer said they should be carried only if their bearers thought they needed them. This would be the way to rout a lot of annoying habits, including bullying.

The Soviet Union uses all kinds sick. He would retire. The rumor faded into the hubbub of the National Press Club bar.

THERE ARE TIMES when Meany calls a high council meeting for some purpose. Again reports of resignation. Again he is sick; again he will retire. Again talk of his successor. Again he clamps down on his cigar and makes plans for the next two years. But the fact is Meany is not sick. He will not retire. He likes his job.

Always there is conjecture over his successor. A couple of years ago it would have been Walter Reuther. Today that's impossible. More and more the militant Auto Union chief appears to have isolated himself. There appears to be little chance that the "Redhead"—the youngest giant of them all — ever will become president of the AFL-CIO.

There are those close to the hard-shelled George Meany who say this about their leader's attitude towards Reuther:

"The feeling between the two is more bitter than ever. They were at a conference in Brussels recently and Meany left early to avoid further contact and perhaps a flare up."

"Meany believes that Reuther resembled the boat in '59. George was ready to build up Reuther and to get him together with the progressive leaders of the powerful Construction Trades Unions, such as Peter Schoemann of the Plumbers. But then Walter began taking potshots at Meany. Meany felt that while Reuther certainly has his right to militancy, the more conservative AFL leaders have been around longer and that it is their experience which guides them and not any 'flabbiness,' which Walter has charged."

MEANY REACTED by ignoring Reuther. During the recent convention in San Francisco, Meany began building Al J. Hayes, head of the powerful Machinists Union. Many believe that this is the sign.

Hayes, who must retire from the Machinists' presidency in a few years, doesn't act at all as though he were ready to live on a small pension in or out of Washington.

He is building a large new home in the Tacoma Park district of Washington's suburbia. He is close to Meany, that's certain. Along with him are a group of younger men not as widely known as they will be in '60.

About one of these men it is not at all corny to say he is a tower of strength. Literally he is that. He is Paul Hall, head of the Seafarers International Union, who will be the next AFL-CIO council member.

Paul is young. In sailors' tradition he is open collared, tieless, lithe, voluble and can hold his own in a sea dog fight, cuss like an ancient sailor and conduct university seminars in the economics of his craft. He is intensely loyal to Meany and soon will be a national figure.

ALONG WITH HIM on the way to the heights are Jim Saffridge of the retail clerks, Lee Minton of the Glass Bottle Workers and the affable, cultured Joe Beirne, head of the Communication Workers.

Watch the latter. There is talk that he soon will be national AFL-CIO secretary - treasurer. That would keep an AFL man on top and put a CIO man second-in-command. That's where it will rest for a while.

P.S.: As for Jimmy Hoffa, he'll be the same but only more so.

Picking Up the Pieces

Defense In Focus

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Carping Politicians Doing Disservice To U.S.

President Eisenhower at his press conference Wednesday brought into focus a question that has been worrying many people — just why some politicians are becoming so anxious to prove the alleged inadequacy of our defenses.

The President rightly declares this isn't a partisan matter at all.

"I don't have to be partisan," he said, "and I want to tell you this: I've spent my life in this, and I know more about it than almost anybody, I think, that is in the country, because I have given my life to it and on a basis of doing what is good for the government and for the country."

"I believe that the matter of defense has been handled well and efficiently in the proposals that will be before the Congress within a matter of a day or so and I think those people that are trying to make defense a partisan matter are doing a disservice to the United States."

These words have been long overdue. For many months the politicians have been spreading alarms to the effect that, "Russia is ahead of us." The implication is that the United States is inferior in a military sense.

Indeed one of the newsmen at the President's press conference said that "some critics of the administration's defense program" were saying that, in future talks with Nikita Khrushchev, Mr. Eisenhower "would be at a disadvantage because of the prospect that the United States will be second best in the missile field."

TIME AND AGAIN the President and high officials of the government have given public assurance that the United States may be ahead in some weapons and behind in others but that, from an overall standpoint, this country is not inferior in a military sense to any country in the world. The President said:

"I believe in the United States' power, and I believe it is there, not to be used, but to make certain that the other fellow doesn't use his; and I am not in the slightest degree disturbed by such a possibility as you speak of."

The United States has ample deterrent power. It can destroy an enemy. The degree of its destructive power is arguable, just as is the power of any other country. But Mr. Eisenhower is a loyal American with a military background. If he thought for one moment that, by the expenditure of larger and larger sums, America's defenses would be materially better than they are today, he would not hesitate to urge such spending. He knows the military problems of a world war. He has commanded the biggest armed forces ever assembled. He knows strategy.

Yet President Eisenhower's attitude toward defense is questioned by partisans who wish to make political capital out of it. Likewise, his judgment is questioned by many who have a particular weapon or service viewpoint to advance.

FEW PEOPLE know all sides of the defense problem, and certainly only a man inside the government with access to the confidential reports of the free world's intelligence agencies can size up the meaning of all the claims as to whether Russia is ahead and by how much and what it would mean if there were a war today or five years from now.

The pressure for military spending is perennial. It has gone on for decades. There was a time when a lobbyist for a metals company actually did his best to sabotage an international conference on naval disarmament.

Special interests, often with the best of motives, see a problem solely from their own viewpoint.

Likewise, defense contractors sometimes feel they must have the help of senators and representative to get certain projects adopted. They enlist the aid of members of Congress when the abandonment of a contract means a loss of employment to a particular state or district. But the President represents all the people. He has full responsibility to the whole people.

THE NATION is fortunate, indeed, to have in the White House today a military man with experience and judgment in handling military budgets.

Obviously there are honest differences of opinion and many of the critics are devoted to their country and really believe our defenses are inadequate but for the most part they do not have the whole story.

Thus, for instance, much money could be spent in research and development of a rifle that would fire more rapidly or use less ammunition to secure a more deadly result.

But someone has to determine priorities. Which is more important and what will be more important five years hence?

Mistakes will be made but not in matters that really are likely to affect the future safety of this country. Many minds in the government work at our defense problem, and the President does not try to deal singlehandedly with the complex issues that are presented.

To muddy the waters with partisan speeches, as some of the ambitious politicians do from time to time, is, indeed, in the words of the President, likely to do a "dis-service to the United States."

Useless Acts

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Have you ever noticed how often we human beings say and do things we don't really want, need, mean, or enjoy?

I have in mind the act of compulsion, the uttered cliché, the compunction to fill a void that doesn't need filling, the pause that doesn't need refreshing.

Think of all the little useless acts of human behavior, of the cigarette you smoked purely out of habit, of the extra highball or coffee cup you drained without thinking or wanting.

Is there anything on earth more

Favors Bigger Gym

All basketball fans can't get into the Senior High gym to attend the games because of insufficient seating capacity.

I recommend turning the gymnasium into a needed auditorium and building a new gym to seat 7,500 people, large enough for all the fans and big enough for tournaments.

European editorial writers called the Soviet Premier's disarmament speech a shrewd propaganda move.

"It is a powerful imaginative gesture," said Britain's Daily Express. "Khrushchev has once again stolen the show by seizing the initiative on an issue of lasting importance."

in any way the Soviet Union's striking power since this is chiefly achieved by modern weapons."

Khrushchev's disarmament plan was being trumpeted as a "new great peace move."

Cheered Throughout Russia

The official news agency Tass said the plan to cut the armed forces was cheered throughout the Soviet Union and prompted an "enormous political resonance" throughout the world.

At the same time, Tass said, it "caught the United States unawares and placed it in an embarrassing position before world opinion which welcomes the new concrete and peaceful initiative of the Soviet people."

There were no details on the "fantastic" weapon that Khrushchev spoke about.

(American scientist Dr. Ralph Lapp said in Washington that the Soviets may be working on plans to orbit hydrogen bombs around the earth as weapon satellites which could be rained down on the enemy at will. Lapp, an expert on atomic energy, said such missiles could be developed during this decade since they would be merely an extension of present ballistic missiles capabilities.)

A construction crew found her body early Sunday not far from the Mississippi River. Nearby was the 1960 foreign sports car she had driven to Baton Rouge. In her hands was a crushed package of cigarettes she was apparently trying to open when she was attacked, officers think from behind.

ANOTHER PAYDAY—John Kirchgessner, who has been receiving Social Security checks longer than any other person in Salem, beams as he is presented with his January payment by Douglas H. Martenia, local field representative of the Youngs' own Social Security office. Kirchgessner began drawing benefits when they first became payable.

Started Getting Checks In 1940

Salem Man Social Security Beneficiary For 20 Years

John Kirchgessner, 86, of 251 E. 3rd St. rounded out 20 years as a social security beneficiary—the only person in Salem to receive benefits for that length of time—with the delivery of his January check.
 Kirchgessner began receiving benefits in 1940, the year they were first payable, after he suffered a stroke.
 A Salem resident for 46 years, he came here from Winona where he had been a farmer. He also served a mail route from Salem to Winona.
 Following a period of employment at the Deming Co., he took a job in the defunct American Steel and Wire Co. plant here and later was hired by the E. W. Bliss Co.
 He and his wife, the former Nellie M. Lydick, were married Dec. 27, 1898. They have three children, Elvin and Wilma Kirchgessner and Mrs. Margaret Volaw of Salem.
 This year marks the 25th anniversary of the Social Security Act, although the first monthly benefits did not become payable until 1940.
 In that year, 222,500 people became entitled to payments. Of that number, only 28,500 survive.

More than 26,000 of the remaining persons are now in their 80's, and 2,000 are over 90. There are six 20-year beneficiaries who have crossed the century mark.
 At the end of 1959, 13 1/2 million men, women and children were receiving monthly old-age, survivors, and disability insurance benefits, totaling $850 million a month. Total payments during 1959 amounted to $10.3 billion, compared with $32.1 billion in 1940.
 The average monthly benefit payable to a retired worker in 1940 was $22.60. The average old-age insurance benefit awarded in 1959 was about $80.

Northwestern-Ohio State Game Highlights Weekend Card

Buckeyes Are Highly Favored

Purdue, Iowa Clash In Another Headliner

By The Associated Press
The attempt of Northwestern, the Big Ten's best defensive team, to contain league-leading Ohio State's explosive offense headlines a four-game conference basketball card Saturday.

Northwestern (2-1) has yielded an average of 66.3 points and its deliberate style foiled Indiana last week.

The Buckeyes (2-0) will be highly favored on their home court. They have the Big Ten's best offensive punch with a 96.5 average and also lead in rebounds with 56 a game. Sophomore Jerry Lucas, whose injured ankle has mended, is third high scorer in the conference with a 25-point average and his teammate, Mel Nowell, is among the top ten with 17.

Northwestern, whose only loss to Iowa, 73-59, is led by Willie Jones, No. 8 on the scoring list with 18.3.

Another headliner is Purdue (2-1) at Iowa (3-1) in a regionally televised afternoon game. It matches two of the circuit's better sophomores, Terry Dischinger of the Boilermakers against the Hawkeyes' 6-7 Tom Nelson.

Dischinger, whose 43-point spurge in a losing cause against Illinois Monday was the fourth best single game scoring performance in Big Ten history, is averaging 34.3 to lead the conference. Nelson is ranked seventh with 19.2.

Rounding out the schedule are Michigan State (2-1) at Illinois (2-1) in another afternoon engagement and Minnesota (1-1) at Michigan (0-2).

Dodgers Made 'Comeback of Year' In 1959, Writers Vote

By The Associated Press
A veteran baseball writer walked up to Walter Alston in Vero Beach, Fla. last March. "Look Walt," he told the Los Angeles Dodger manager, "I think your club has a good chance to win the pennant. What do you think?"

"I believe we'll finish in the first division," replied Alston. "But I don't know about the pennant. After all we were seventh last year and if we finish among the first four I guess we'll be doing all right."

The Dodgers started Alston, most of the experts and the fans who had seen them wind up only ahead of last-place Philadelphia in their first season in Los Angeles in 1958. Bolstered by the acquisition of Wally Moon from St. Louis plus pitchers Roger Craig and Larry Sherry from minor league affiliates, the Dodgers beat Milwaukee in a playoff for the National League pennant and downed the Chicago White Sox in a six-game World Series.

Although several teams and individuals rebounded from poor seasons, the Dodgers made the comeback of the year for 1959 in the opinion of 114 sportswriters and broadcasters participating in the annual Associated Press poll.

The balloting today showed the Dodgers overwhelming choices. They received 72 first place votes and 262 points on a basis of three points for a first place vote, two for second place and one for third. Baltimore pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm was second with 11 first place votes and 47 points. The knuckleballer was followed by the Green Bay Packers 35 points, the Georgia football team 29, pitcher Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox 18 and Gene Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn.'s middleweight champion, 16.

Wilhelm, 36, bounced back from a 3-10 record with the Orioles and Cleveland in 1958, to win 15 games.

Basilio Will Meet Welterweight Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmen Basilio will try to win back the welterweight title he gave up when he won the middleweight crown from Ray Robinson.

Basilio, subsequently stripped of the 160-pound title in a rematch with Sugar Ray, is going to box welterweight champ Don Jordan of Los Angeles June 10 at Syracuse.

Norm Rothschild, Syracuse promoter announced the match Thursday night.

With Basilio going back into the 147-pound class, Gene Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn. champion, can concentrate on proposed matches with Ray Robinson, the New York and Massachusetts champion, and Joey Giardello of Philadelphia.

Bowling Event In Final Day

Grandma, Young Rookie Are Leaders

OMAHA (AP) — A dashing young rookie and a capable grandmother led their respective fields into the last day of action at the All-Star Bowling Tournament today.

The rookie is Bob Chase, tall, dark and handsome young musclem from Kansas City, Mo. The grandmother is the pro who had won this gruelling test seven times — Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Both gained the tournament's top standings for the first time on the last of Thursday's four squads.

Chase, 27, averaged 226 as he won 12 and lost 4 games Thursday, to matches with Billy Welu of St. Louis, Carmen Salvino and Billy Bunetta of Chicago and Wayne Zahn of Milwaukee. He rolled a record series for the current tourney of 280-223-201-257 — 961.

Welu, defending champion who had led for six consecutive rounds stumbled into third place after winning but 8 of his 16 games Thursday. Harry Smith of St. Smith of St. Louis moved into second place after he won 13 games.

Despite their widely varying performances throughout the day, Chase, Smith and Welu entered the final rounds bunched in point totals at 234-11, 233-12, and 232-08.

Under the Petersen point system by which the finals are conducted, a bowler gains one point for every 50 pins scored and one point for every game won. Total points will be the sole criterion when the champion's are crowned tonight after the 16th round.

Mrs. Ladewig sprang from sixth to first place in her division after she won seven of eight games Thursday, averaging 193. This performance boosted her point total to 108-09.

Sylvia Wene, Philadelphia star who rolled a 300 game in the qualifying rounds, claimed second place on 107-13 points.

The final block of the tournament tonight will be broadcast on the NBC radio and television network at 9 p.m. CST.

REMAINS UNDEFEATED
NEW YORK (AP) — Defending champion Edward Lee of the New York A. C. remained undefeated in the National Amateur Three-Cushion Billiard Championship Thursday night when he beat James Dowling of San Diego, Calif., for his fifth victory, Lee, who downed Dowling 50-39 in 70 innings, can wrap up the title today by defeating Stanhope Adams of Chicago. Adams has won four of his five games.

Chicago Holds Long Win Skein

Maroons Have Taken 17 Without Defeat

CHICAGO (AP)—The proudest basketball winning streak in the nation undoubtedly belongs to the University of Chicago, the one-time Big Ten athletic power that de-emphasized brawn to emphasize brains a score of years ago.

The Maroons have won 17 straight games in a string that stretches from last year and includes 10 in a row this season. It is helping blot out memory of a 45-game losing streak six years ago.

"When I became athletic director four years ago, the first basketball game I went to had an attendance of 21, including myself," says Wally Hass. "And in my first year we drew $106 at the gate for all our athletic events."

"We had about 1,200 spectators—including even some faculty men—when we beat Rochester 60-53 recently. And this year we'll be up in the big money, maybe a couple of thousand dollars."

The Maroons gave up football 20 years ago and dropped out of the Big Ten in 1946. Since then they've had little to talk about in sports except a strong intramural program and the glory days of Amos Alonzo Stagg.

"There has been no change in our athletic policy," says Hass.

"We have no desire to try to go big time."

"We don't have athletic scholarships. And even our academic scholarships are granted on the basis of need. Our athletic budget comes out of the general fund so we don't have to worry about gate receipts."

But lately student enthusiasm is soaring. They hoisted a sign near the Administration Building that reads: "Back the Maroons!" Such an outburst hasn't happened in a con's age.

Famed Arena Being Converted Into Bowling Alley

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Soon they'll be knocking down pins instead of people at what used to be Hollywood Legion Stadium.

The famed arena — where Jess Willard, Hank Armstrong and Harry Greb once thrilled prizefight fans — is being turned into a bowling alley.

Once a top boxing center, the stadium reached its heyday in the 1940s—when the cheers of the late Mexican actress Lupe Velez ("Gee eet to heem, beeg boy!") rang to the rafters.

Now the only reverberations come from hammers and saws. In May, the stadium will become a 44-lane bowling alley.

"It had to come," said Lee Maxfield of Hollywood Legion Post 43, which has operated the stadium since 1922.

Like most boxing people, Maxfield blames television. It was giving away "what we were trying to sell," he reflected sadly.

The original stadium was built in 1920 by Theodore Roberts, a silent screen star. It seated only 3,500 in wooden stands surrounded by canvas walls.

A year later Rudolph Valentino, Clara Bow and Charlie Chaplin got the ringside habit and the management put a roof over the joint.

During the stadium's most prosperous era — from 1931 to 1948—the ringside was studded with show business celebrities and weekly capacity houses of 6,200 were commonplace.

Then television arrived. Several promoters tried to revive interest but it was no use.

May Play City Loop 'Spoiler' Role

Stamping to Meet Two Top Squads Next Week

Salem Stamping, one of three unbeaten teams in the city Class A basketball loop during the second round, will have an opportunity to play the role of "spoiler" next week when it tangles with the two recognized powers of the league, Herron Transfer and Farmers Bank.

Farmers has a 3-0 record while Herron's and Stamping are both 2-0. Herron's won the first round title while Farmers was runner-up. Stamping finished in the second division with a 4-5 mark.

However, Stamping has come on fast in the last few weeks to capture six of their last seven games. They are led in the scoring department by Dave Williams who boasts a fine 17-point average for 10 games. He is the fifth leading scorer in the league.

Two other Stamping players have scored more than 100 points and are among the loop's top-20 point getters. They are Carson McNeely who has 116 markers and George Burrier who has hit 114. Vaughn Harshman is just off the pace with 97 points.

Bob Adams of Industrial Mining last week became the first player in the league to score over 200 points. Adams picked up 13 markers in each of two contests to hike his 11-game total to 212.

The Industrial Mining cager saw his average slip to 19.3 points per game, still the best in the league. Birkhimer's Isalsy forfeited its second straight game last week. One more forfeit and it will be dropped from further competition according to a league rule. Foreman's Window Cleaning also has forfeited a pair of games.

Team and individual statistics are as follows:

CLASS A Second Round

Richard Ahead Again In Hockey Scoring

By The Associated Press
Gordie Howe's share of the National Hockey League's all-time scoring lead lasted only one day — just long enough for Maurice (The Rocket) Richard to get back into action.

The Detroit veteran tied Richard for the lead at 945 points Wednesday. Thursday night the 38-year-old Rocket, sidelined since Nov. 26 by a fractured cheekbone, returned to the Montreal lineup and promptly picked up an assist as the Canadiens widened their lead to 13 points with a 3-1 victory over the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs. The assist gave Richard 946 points.

Meantime, the red-hot Boston Bruins posted their fourth straight victory and goalie Don Simmons his second successive shutout with a 6-0 defeat of the New York Rangers. Only sparkling goal tending by Gump Worsley prevented the Bruins from winning by an even bigger margin.

Slightly Behind 1958-59 Team In Scoring

Salem Cagers Are Compiling Impressive Defensive Record

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
Coach John Cabas' 1959-60 Salem cagers are slightly behind the scoring pace of last year's state runner-up outfit but the current squad is compiling a more impressive defensive record.

Going into their seventh game of the season tonight against Warren, the Quakers have a 5-1 season mark, the same record they had last year prior to the annual battle with the Panthers. Last year's powerhouse had scored 434 points while yielding 320 to six opponents.

This year the Quakers have scored 391 markers but have given up only 288. Salem is averaging 65.4 points per game and the opposition 48.

Despite his red hot night against Columbus East last week, guard Dan Krichbaum is behind his scoring pace of last year. After six games last season Krichbaum had piled up 98 points, compared to 72 this year.

Woody Deitch was the leading scorer at this time last year with 100 points, two more than Krichbaum. Dave Hunter had just 66 points after six games last year. Now he is the Quakers' leading scorer with 111. His average is 18.5 points per game.

Center Eric Theiss is carrying the best shooting average among the regulars. The 6-5 senior has been 63.3 per cent accurate from the field and 87.5 per cent successful from the free throw line.

The team's shooting percentages are a remarkable 48.1 per cent on field goals and a fair 62.7 on fouls.

Individual and team statistics after six games are as follows:

REBOUNDS
Davidson	2	Theiss	52
Solmen	36	Krichbaum	27

Johansson Grabs Win After Moore Almost Steals Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Archie Moore almost stole the show at the Boxing Writers dinner, but Ingemar Johansson grabbed a split decision in the last round.

Moore was a spellbinder Thursday night. Impeccably attired the light heavyweight champion told 500 diners how he wanted to fight Johansson, the heavyweight king.

Archie, 46, had many other things to say. He warned Ray Robinson he was "getting old" (at 39) and said he would like to participate with him in cutting up a nice purse. He begged Harold Johnson, No. 1 challenger for his light heavy crown, to "be patient and you will get a chance—another chance."

Johansson, the last man on the long program said, as he has been saying for weeks, he wishes and hopes his next fight will be with Patterson.

"I wish and hope it will be a clean promotion," he said. "And a simple contract which everybody can read (applause). For my part I prefer the way we used to do in Europe. Shake hands and get the money the day after the fight."

The Neil award is given annually in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in the Spanish Civil War.

Mary Jensen, manager of Gene

Fullmer, the National Boxing Assn. middleweight champion, accepted the James Walker award for "long and meritorious service to boxing." The award is named in memory of the former New York mayor who fathered the bill that made boxing legal in New York.

Power, Two Others Sign Tribe Contracts

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today announced signing of three more players, including first baseman Vic Power.

General Manager Frank Lane, usually first in the majors to sign his players, now has 27 under contract and 10 to go. Included among those still holding out for more money are Rocky Colavito, Gary Bell, Jim Perry and Russ Nixon.

The other two latest signers are outfielder Don Dillard, who batted .283 at San Diego in 1959, and southpaw pitcher Mike Lee, an 18-year-old fastballer who was acquired in the draft from the San Francisco Giants' farm system. The Giants had paid him a hefty $80,000 bonus two years ago.

In nine seasons of racing, Ancestor has started 101 times in steeplechase races. Mrs. Ogden Phipps' jumper has won 26 races and $237,956.

Jersey Joe's Son to Enter Ministry

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Not so long ago the 19-year-old son of former world heavyweight boxing champion Jersey Joe Walcott appeared destined to follow in his father's footsteps.

Walcott had been training the youth, Vince, for some eight months.

"He loves boxing," Jersey Joe had recalled proudly. "He wanted to box since he was nine. He used to go to camp and do road work and punch bags with me. I think he could become a heavyweight champ."

But today Vince virtually has abandoned all plans for a ring career in hopes of entering the ministry.

What brought the sudden change of mind?

"As a matter of fact I know I was called," Vince said. "I feel obligated to go into the ministry. My intent is to do what God would have me do."

The husky 6-1, 180-pounder hopes to enter Howard University in Washington where he put in a semester before dropping out to work at the New York Shipbuilding Corp. here.

The road is going to be tough for Vince. He has a wife and a 2½-month-old boy to support.

"I think I can lean on dad," he asserts. "He has pretty broad shoulders and I think he'll be glad to help."

Right now Walcott himself is fulfilling a promise he says he made to God.

Since 1953 he has been a special juvenile investigator for the city of Camden.

"I'd always wanted to get into youth work and when I won the heavyweight title I promised God I would devote my life to helping youth," Walcott explains.

Big Race Tracks Off Limits These Days to 'Hoods'

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a day when the likes of Al Capone could roam at will through race tracks in Chicago, New York, Miami or another city.

But today the mob steers clear of the big tracks which make up the Thoroughbred Racing Assn. The tracks are strictly off limits for known hoodlums.

Just 14 years ago today the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau was born.

Thanks to the round-the-clock, round-the-calendar and cross-country vigilance of TRPB agents—most of them former FBI men—racing has become one of the best policed of all sports.

Capone once raced, not just a stable of horses, but a number of stables under various fronts. Other top hoods could be found in the track clubhouses, boxes and dining rooms.

So Spencer J. Drayton, one off J. Edgar Hoover's top FBI aides and now TRPB chief, was employed to police the sport.

Today there are 49 member tracks in the TRA.

Drayton, in summing up the first 14 years, said:

"Ours is no longer a cleanup job. It's true that when we started out in 1946 there were a few loopholes and some bad actors in racing. We cleaned up what needed cleaning up and today our big job is to keep it that way."

"THE FATHER OF RADIO"
SPECULATES ON THE FUTURE

What will the world of tomorrow be like? Dr. Lee de Forest, often referred to as "The Father of Radio," expects to see the following dreams become realities before this century ends: men will have landed on the moon and established bases there; cars will have "automatic pilots" and the main street in cities and towns will have conveyor-type sidewalks which will carry people from one store or office to another; man's life span will have increased to nearly 100 years and the causes of and cure for cancer will have been found; and for the lucky housewife, an electronic oven will cook meat in two or three minutes.

These are only a few of the amazing predictions made by Dr.
de Forest in the fascinating article, "The Coming Miracles of Science." Be sure to read it in Family Weekly, distributed with your Jan. 16th Salem News.

In the same issue is the searching article, "Happiness At Last For Ex-Queen Soraya?" With the Shah's recent remarriage, Soraya is at last free to build a new life for herself.

Regular Family Weekly features include some delectable and savory heat-and-serve soup recipes, tongue twisters, word games, and puzzles for the youngsters in the Junior Treasure Chest; and the jokes and cartoons of Quips and Quotes.

CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to thank everyone for the many lovely birthday cards and messages received. They were greatly enjoyed and appreciated.
